~ OUR GUEST INSTRUCTORS ~

Grant Chenok holds a Bachelor of Performing Arts degree of Oklahoma City University and has worked professionally in Los Angeles for 8 years working on and in multiple television, movie, commercial and video productions. Grant has been fortunate to work with studios across 40 of the 50 U.S. states, as well as studios abroad and keeps busy spreading the love of dance, as proud co-founder of Flow 40 Dance Workshops.

Nick Drago is a graduate of Oklahoma City University. As a professional dancer and actor, he has appeared in numerous music videos and TV productions. Nick has been seen on the Emmys, Golden Globes, Spike TV's Video Game Awards and The People's Choice Awards. In addition to his film and television work, His interest in health and nutrition has given him the opportunity to model for magazines and fitness and training videos. Nick can also be seen on season one of Bravo's "Step It Up & Dance" and is also co-host of Nick & Desiree's InfiniteDance Cast. He also is the co-owner of Flow 40 Dance Workshops.

John Rokita has been performing and teaching for over 17 years. He was a featured dancer on Broadway for North American and European tours. John has also danced for the Walt Disney Corp. His industrial work includes Dr. Pepper and Hilton and Hyatt hotels. In addition, John has taught at prominent studios throughout the US and his choreographic works have won numerous works across the US and Canada. He recently has begun working with his own company The Collaboration, which will soon be performing throughout the Midwest.
